Bone and circuit- gold, dead lace, and a dull white marble rolled from clay. Lynch walked an optics spool six kilos east and tapped into a phone.

Hesatup, swinging his legs off the bed. It set off her pale hair, and was very nice. Two-a-Day came down to do business, mostly with the hot-doggers in Barrytown, and then he climbed back up. She was alone, but assumed that she was being observed. And something leaned in, vastness unutterable, from beyond the most distant edge of anything he'd ever known or imagined, and touched. His eyes were open, but he couldn't see. It was all hotdog shit, in Leon's, weekenders with cheap decks who watched Japanese icebreaker kinos.
